Dear Matt

Re: Certified Network Cabling Installer

Further to our earlier conversation I am pleased to confirm that Maxxam Cabling Solutions endorses the CNCI qualification. Furthermore, I can confirm that we will accept companies who have a minimum of two engineers that have successfully completed the CNCI course on to the Maxxam Installer Partner program without the need for them to complete any further formal training.

I am happy for CNet Training to use the Maxxam Cabling Solutions name in any promotional activity regarding the CNCI qualification. If you would like us to promote the qualification on our own website (which is currently under construction) then please let me have any relevant logos and content.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you should require any further details or information.

Yours sincerely

Nick Andrews
